General Course Rules

Handlers can and should move around the course while the dog works to be able to view and call the mark of the correct live rat tube. Handlers can speak at will and verbally praise and encourage their dog.

1) Handlers may not bring food or toys into the ring.
2) Handlers may not self-time in the ring using a watch or any other timing device.
3) Handlers may not enter the ring with bait bags, pouches, or other attachments (including cameras).
4) Handlers may not deliberately touch, step on, or step over any bales, boards, ramps, bridges, or tubes.
5) Handlers may not deliberately touch their dog at any time after the release from the start box and before the finish of the course except for during the period after a live tube is correctly located.
- Body blocking, pushing, or nudging the dog with hip, knee, leg, or foot, is considered deliberate touching

6) Handlers may not berate, bully, intimidate, or otherwise verbally abuse their dog, the judge, or any person in or around the ring.
7) Handlers may not curse in the ring.
8) No grabbing, scruffing (grabbing/pulling the skin/hair on the dog's body), shaking, or pulling or holding the dog by the tail is allowed.
9) Handlers may not use obedience commands (i.e., sit, down, stay) to position their dog in order to move to another portion of the course such as the other side of the tunnel to call the dog to them.
- Handlers may use a command such as "Wait" or "Stay" for safety reasons in order to keep a dog from launching off a high bale, and may use an obedience command to position the dog in the start box prior to release.

10) Handlers may encourage the dog to search certain areas, climb and/or tunnel through voice and/or hand gestures.
11) Picking up/carrying may not be used as a punishment/corrective action or if carrying will be physically uncomfortable for the dog (i.e., attempting to carry a larger dog). Carrying should be done in such a way as to be physically comfortable to the dog. Flipping the dog onto its back to remove it from the course is considered a corrective action and will result in an NQ.
- Dogs may not be picked up or carried to remove them from a rat tube or lift them down from high places.

12) Spectators can cheer the handler/dog but cannot double-handle.
13) Teams who do not successfully find a live rat tube within course time, who indicate an incorrect tube, or who find one or more live rat tubes but do not find the next or final rat tube, are to be taken to the next/final tube before exiting the course.
14) Handlers may request to be excused from the course and accept an NQ score (i.e., dog has stopped working, is stressed, or is out of control)
15) Elimination on the course is an NQ (non-qualifying) score for the dog, and the dog must be immediately removed from the course and is not allowed to continue. Elimination includes urination, defecation, and/or spitting up/throwing up.

Site Description: The barn hunt barns are located inside a fully fenced ring with signs that say “West Ring” (brown box on the lower left corner of the map). The barns are metal carports with non-slip rubber matting on the ground. They have a solid wall in the back (the side of each structure facing the driveway), and half-walls on the sides, with lattice-work from the half-wall to the roof for airflow and to allow natural light. There is 4-foot black metal fencing in the front of each barn (side facing the exhibitor tenting area), with one gate, making the barn fully fenced in. The Senior/Masters barn is 20’ x 40’ and has a tan roof. The Instinct/Novice/Open Barn is 20’x20’ and has a red roof.

The blinds are also metal carports. The Instinct/Novice/Open (blue) is 20’x20’ and has a picnic table and chairs and has Aluminet screens on all four sides. The Senior/Masters blind (orange) is 40’ x 27’ and has a full Leland Cypress screen on the side facing the driveway, lattice work from ground to roof on two sides and a black metal fence across the front entrance. It also has Aluminet screens on the side facing the barns. It has an artificial turf surface and chairs for competitors.

The bitches in season quarantine area is shown in pink on the map and will be clearly labeled with pink flagging tape and pink signs. Competitors should park in the designated BIS spot and only potty their dogs in the designated BIS area. Bitches in season will be blinded in their vehicles and will enter at a gate near the BIS area.

The site is wheelchair accessible and handicapped parking is marked and located close to the Instinct/Novice/Open blind, as well as close to the bathrooms and clubhouse (where lunch is served). A golf cart is available for transportation as well.
